

Jesuit Collaborative

Conference on Ignatian Spirituality

The Jesuit Collaborative is sponsoring The Principle and Foundation: Who Are We Before God Conference on Ignatian Spirituality on June 19–21, 2009, at Fordham University.

The goal of The Jesuit Collaborative is to help more people to encounter God, to ignite their passion, and to create new worlds through the ongoing practice of the Spiritual Exercises. The theme of the conference provides an inspiring standard for opening up to be free to respond to God's will. Keynote presentations, workshops and liturgy will be offered in English and Spanish.

The conference schedule and registration materials are available at:
www.jesuit-collaborative.org

Fr. Bob Gilroy, SJ, created the inspirational artwork, The Word in the World, used in the conference materials.

Steven Jubin is New Regional Director for IVC New England

The Ignatian Volunteer Corps (IVC) is pleased to announce the appointment of Steven Jubin as the first regional director in New England. He will be responsible for setting up the newly established IVC New England Region. Steve grew up in Rhode Island and spent five years in the Junior Seminary of the Missionaries of the Sacred Heart before graduating cum laude in lab medicine from the University of Rhode Island. He has worked in hospital lab management and clinical lab capital equipment sales management throughout the Northeast. Later in life, as part of his Missionary of Charity experience, Steve worked in the Pastoral Care Department of Our Lady of Fatima Hospital in N. Providence, Rhode Island, and was the parish administrator at St. Mary of the Assumption Parish in Milford, Massachusetts. Steve says, "My vision for IVC New England is to develop a diversified group of nonprofit service sites catering to the poor, with the help of God, where our volunteers can serve."

If you are interested in becoming a corps member volunteer or sponsor, please contact Steve at (617) 699-4045 or sjubin@ivcusa.org

Michael Mahoney and Kelly O'Neil talked with Jay Fadden and Fr. Robert Reed about the Jesuit Connection on This is the Day program on Catholic TV. The December 23, 2008 program is available on www.catholic.tv and as a podcast on I-Tunes.

The Jesuit Connection is a group of young adults who have graduated from Jesuit institutions or have had other experiences with Jesuit teachings and values. The group plans liturgy, service and networking programs and events for all those interested.

On May 7, 2009, the Jesuit Connection will host a Pizza and a Pint and Ignatian Conversations at 6:30 p.m. at Loyola House, 300 Newbury St., Boston. Fr. Ron Mercier, SJ, will present Ethics in the Workplace.

First Friday Lenten Ignatian Conversations

John Mahoney, vice chair and chief financial officer, Staples, Inc., Bill Teuber, vice chair, EMC, and the Very Rev. Thomas J. Regan, SJ, provincial, hosted a three-part First Friday Ignatian Conversation series during Lent. An esteemed group of 30 business leaders convened for three morning dialogues. Fr. Regan began the morning with the Jesuit Examen. John Mahoney welcomed the guests and reviewed the inspiration of the Principle Centered Leadership Program and the commitment this year to a Lenten Conversation Series for Business Leaders. Dr. Richard Spinello, associate research professor in the Carroll School of Management at Boston College, facilitated discussions on The Call to Holiness, The Ignatian Practice of Meditation and Contemplation, and Methods of Reflection and Prayer. The programs were rich with content and the follow-up conversations were dedicated to discourse and dialogue on business acumen and ethics within an Ignatian context. The tri-chairs hope to expand the program offerings and the province is exploring endowment opportunities for the Principle Centered Leadership model.

Principle Centered Leadership Mission

To establish a program to support and nurture business leaders in their ongoing growth through Ignatian programming and opportunities for discourse and dialogue. Programming will focus on business, ethics, leadership, spirituality, a faith that does justice, altruism and philanthropy.
